Excerpt: . CHAPTER m THE COMING OF NIGHT My new gun--I see my last sunrise--A pleasant picture in the country road--My last glimpse of mother-- Hunting dogs eat berries--A premonition--Torrid heat in a dismal swamp--The fatal shot-- Darkness and the great void--Coming back to torment--My piteous plight--Marching through the swamp in darkest night-- Again in my mother s arms--The journey home--Pain within and gloom without-- Testing my eyesight--The verdict-- Familiar pictures which I cannot see--I hear nature, but cannot see her face--I shut down my window. It must not be imagined that after my lameness I gave up any of my outdoor sports and recreations, for I did not. Although it was much harder to pursue them, yet I clung to everything that I had possessed before with the grip of a bulldog, and was enabled to do about everything that I had done before. So the Spring...
