Flood conditions prevailed during the entire period, but there were three distinct floods in the upper valley. The first flood was caused by heavy rain on Dry Creek just above Pueblo on the night of June 2; the second was the main flood, which occurred during the night of June 3; and the third was that due to the breaking of the Schaeffer reservoir, on Beaver Creek, on the morning of June 5. The area considered in this report is shown in Plate I. The flood was remarkable for the very small area covered by the rainfall that was its chief cause, and for the swift rise of the river to an unprecedented stage and its almost equally rapid fall. The swift rise and fall indicated very great flood discharges of the tributary streams, which drain a mountainous country of steep slopes. The total discharge of the main flood was less than 90,000 acre-feet. Immediately after the flood the United States Geological Survey undertook an investigation of its causes and results, and the field work was begun as soon as conditions permitted. An examination was made of all the streams within the area affected by the flood to procure data on maximum run-off in the foothill region and the effect of this tributary run-off upon the main flood. The maximum discharge of each stream was determined from the slope shown...
